When the first red beams of sunrise
Dawns the eastern sky,
Stands our noble Alma Mater
'Neath the hilltops high.
Lift the chorus; speed it onward;
Loud our praises call.
Hail to thee our Alma Mater.
Hail, O Hail, McGraw!

foreword

Now that McGraw High School has faded into history, to be replaced by McGraw Central School, construction and expansion have become the key words of progress in education in McGraw. Of course, the ultimate goal of democratic education is continually the construction of a population which can think for itself and the expansion of character so that every individual is a boon, not a detriment, to society. But in McGraw these two words also have a material meaning: construction and expansion by means of power shovels, blueprints and bulldozers; construction and expansion keyed to the tune of pneumatic hammers, diesel engines and busy construction crews. The goal of this construction, to prepare today's students to be better adults tomorrow through better education, only contributes to the final goal of education. This, then, because it has become the principal influence in school life, has become the theme of our yearbook, the correlating agent in the '52 Mac.

dedication

The '52 Mac is dedicated to Mr. Wilbur Howe who came to McGraw 13 years ago after graduating Phi Beta Kappa from Colgate University. For a short time Mr. Howe taught science courses in addition to mathematics, but for most of those 13 years Mr. Howe has been Vice-Principal and mathematics teacher. He is one of the best and most-liked math teachers McGraw has ever had. He has a way of making algebra, geometry and trigonometry clear to poor students and fun for everyone. He spends much of his time working with extra-curricular funds; keeping records, and helping class and club treasurers.

In appreciation of all he means to us, the Mac Yearbook Club is dedicating this year's yearbook to Mr. Wilbur Howe, a teacher who will remain in the memories of his students, not only as a teacher, but also as a friend.

We, the Mac Yearbook Club, publish our yearbook in memory of Jeannine Hobart, a former classmate of the Class of '52. Jeannine entered McGraw Central School in September, 1945, and was a cheerful member of her class until March 9, 1948, when, at the age of 13, Jeannine died of acute nephritis. Those of us who knew Jeannine best remember her for her honest goodness and it is in memory of both Jeannine and every sincere ideal which formed a part of her life that we publish the '52 Mac.

Only one change occurred on the Board of Education during the past year when James C. Brown was elected to replace R. Karl Reynolds, of McGraw, who was not a candidate for re-election because of ill health.

The board has spent many hours of faithful work during the past year in the planning of the new building as well as carrying on the business of the central school. We believe it will be a beautiful, useful, and efficient plant to which the people in the central district as well as others in the state will point with pride.

We hope we can continue to improve our whole school situation by increasing opportunities for our boys and girls to succeed, through a broader curriculum, better facilities and improved instruction.

In return the administration hopes that the boys and girls, as well as the parents and teachers will appreciate the expense and effort put forth to make this possible. You can do this by taking the proper care of school equipment, the building, furniture and grounds. With everyone doing his share we can have a fine school for many years to come.

School Principal, Mr. Leroy Baer

. . . and students

THE STUDENT Council consists of eight members, two from each class in High School. One member of each class is chosen by popular vote with each class holding its own elections.

The president of each class is automatically a member while the specially elected student from the class holds the title—Student Council Representative. Officers of the student body are elected by the other members to the council. This year, a senior, Trevor Bilodeau, was elected to the presidency of the council which has been very active not only in our own school but within the county.

One problem the council has handled has been the noon hour pass system. The council passed four laws governing the places where one may go and come during the noon hour. The reason for this action was to cut down the confusion that used to exist. The council also decided to have the 7th through 12th grades attend the Christmas party at McGraw Central. Our council, which met bi-monthly, discussed the school's hall problems, where there are many students in the halls at one time. We discussed the using of a "permission card" for activity period, this being the last period. The object of this would be to lessen the duties of the home room teacher.

This year, for the first full active year, McGraw Central School Student Council participated in the County Student Council Association. The County Council was started in June of 1951 but was not actively underway until September, 1952. McGraw volunteered to have the first meeting. The County Council agreed to meet every six weeks, each time in a different member's school. The schools that are represented in the organization are: Marathon, Virgil, Cincinnatus, Homer, Truxton, and McGraw. It was decided that three delegates and an advisor should represent each school at each county meeting. The students and advisor from McGraw for the year 1951-1952 were Phyllis Wheelock, James Brown, Trevor Bilodeau and Mr. Baer, principal.

The objects of the County Council are: to create better citizenship through experience in government, to promote a spirit of cooperation between schools, and to present common problems and attempt to solve them through an exchange of ideas.

One problem that was discussed was the handling of students who misbehaved while on the school bus. Another discussion centered around how best to solve the problem of the student who gave no reason for not attending music festivals and other activities when they were depended on by their instructors to aid in the activity.

These two are examples of the various types of problems brought before and discussed by the County Student Council.

Directly after the meeting an informal discussion period is held by the students while the advisors use this time for matters common to them.

The student council is an active body in McGraw of which the school should be proud. Students should admire this organization and consider it a privilege to belong, for it is the body which speaks for the students.

The custodians may be seen anywhere in the school. They sweep the floors, tend to the fires, and keep the school in tip-top condition. We think you do a fine job!

The cafeteria is a busy place when lunch time comes around. The children line up anxiously awaiting their dinner while the girls who work behind the counter are hurrying to get the dishes done. Food is always hot off the stove. We all enjoy the work that is being done for us in the cafeteria.

THE SENIOR Class of 1952, under Mrs. Nellenback, had a very difficult and changing schedule this year which kept everyone busy. The senior play, scheduled for November, was postponed till March 27th and 28th because the leading actor, Trevor Bilodeau, received a serious injury in a soccer game. Our class took charge of the after-game mixers and also canvassed Cortland and McGraw for yearbook ads. During the past four years the class has maintained a high scholastic average. As of January, 1952, we had won the scholastic banner seven out of fourteen quarters. We took an active part in athletics, with ten of our thirteen boys entered in sports. Our 1952 class officers were:

The Junior Class has had a very successful year. We earned money to help us go on our Senior trip next year by having a magazine subscription drive and by having a "sock" dance. Our magazine drive was held in October, with the class divided into two teams. The orange team, captained by Jack Talbot, won over the green team with Jack Goetcheus as captain. Russell Teeter received a trophy from the Curtis Publishing Company for obtaining the most subscriptions. Our "sock" dance was also held in October for grades 7-12, at which everyone who came was expected to dance in his stocking feet. Prizes were given to those who wore the brightest socks.

Our class held its Junior Prom May 16th with John McNeil's orchestra providing the music.

We chose James Gilbert and Marilyn Fuller to represent our school at the Citizenship Day in Syracuse.

Members of our class participated in soccer, basketball, volleyball, cheerleading, intramurals, rifle club, chorus, band and school news reporting.

Our class officers are:

President	Harriett Moore
Vice-President	Marilyn Fuller
Secretary	Joan Allore
Treasurer	Howard Baer
Student Council Representative ..	Jim Brown
Class Advisor	Miss Seeley

the class of '54

The class of '54 started a busy year by selling refreshments of hot dogs, pop and candy at soccer and basketball games. We sold pencils printed with the basketball schedule. In February we sponsored a Leap Year Dance under the guidance of our advisor, Mr. Baker.

During the year we lost two classmates, Geraldine Fichtner, because of illness, and our Vice-President, Kenneth Roundy.

The first ten weeks, we captured the scholarship banner but lost it to the seniors at mid-term.

The class officers are as follows:

President	Phyllis Wheelock
Vice-President	Charles Niles
Secretary	Elaine Berean
Treasurer	Charles Byron
Student Council Representative	Robert DeWalt
Class Advisor	Mr. Baker

This year has been very profitable and we are looking forward to our Junior year.

We of the Freshman Class have had only one class activity this year. We elected the following class officers:

President James Connelly
 Vice-President Charles Ardis
 Secretary Mary Lou Allore
 Treasurer Mary Lou Chandler
 Student Council Sandra Stone
 Class Advisor Mr. Guy

Our class has had its share of pupils in school activities with participation in band, chorus, soccer, basketball and rifle club.

The Freshmen have not done too well in the scholastic field but we are proud of Edward Strack who has had the high honors the first two quarters. Mary Lou Allore and George Ferris also aided us greatly in the scholastic standing.

We are grateful to Mr. Guy who has been our advisor and to the rest of our teachers. We have had a good year and are looking forward to making next year even better.

eighth grade

During the school year of 1951 and 1952, the eighth graders of McGraw Central School boasted a membership of 60 pupils at one time. This year the eighth graders have elected as their president, Donald Niver, and as their vice-president, Beverly Nauseef. The position of secretary is held by Delores Crozier while James Goetcheus controls the capital for the class. Mrs. Hopkins is our advisor.

The main activity for the eighth graders was selling cards. The profits that were made from the selling of these cards will be used to pay for the eighth grade trip to Albany. They sold $1,250 worth of cards, about half of which is clear profit. At Albany the class visited the capitol building, Schuyler's Mansion and many other places of interest and education.

The eighth grade girls put on a play for the P.T.A. during the month of February. Eight girls participated in this play. The eighth grade also had a party during the month of May and the seventh grade was invited to attend.

During the Christmas season a high school Christmas party was held and the junior high grades were invited to participate in the fun.

All in all, the eighth grade has had a very busy and successful year.

We have been studying light and its different rays. In this picture we are building a box which will be used to experiment with various rays of light.

On the bulletin board are maps of the Iowa area with a globe of the world to show the relation of Iowa to the rest of the United States. We have also learned that Iowa is the "Corn State."

Standing: Mrs. Milks.

A group of us are engaged in reading from our Fourth Grade Reader with the aid of our teacher, Mrs. Milks. We enjoy this activity very much.

third grade

We are very interested in the growing and harvesting of cotton. We have gotten together and built a cotton plantation for our room. We have cotton seeds, small cotton plants and in the background in the picture you can see the plantation owner's home. Projects of this type help us to understand a kind of farming we do not have at home.

Standing: Richard Rood, Donald Torrey.

In the background is a wall mural portraying one of our reading stories, "A Lobster Roast." In the foreground are some figures that Miss Allen helped us make. We enjoyed the reading of this story very much and hope to read other stories as good as this one.

Left to right: Miss Allen, Donald West, James Potter, Nina Bartholomew, Thor Erickson, Margaret Holmes, Barbara Moore, Daniel White, Michael Collins, John Campbell, Fred Peterson.

We enjoy very much going to the board to practice some of our arithmetic examples. While at the board we learn many things that we couldn't learn by ourselves at our seats. Board work is fun!

Absent: Almeda Peterson.

The second grade is doing a follow-up activity from a reading unit on circus stories. The class also made clay models of circus animals, drew circus pictures, learned circus songs, and poems, and as soon as the weather permits they are going to have an outdoor circus.

Left to right: Linda Winfield, Rose McNamara, Pauline Hobart, Donna Thompson, William Schaff, Adrienne Rood.

The second grade pupils during a free reading class. This is to encourage future reading.

First graders making oil cloth toys. They cut a pattern from oil cloth and fasten them together with yarn. Pen and ink is used to draw designs such as nose, eyes and mouth. Paper is stuffed inside to give the toys body. When the toys are finished the children are going to have a Toy Shop. The making of toys is corresponding with the first graders' reading and gym classes. They are reading about toys and in the gym demonstration, they dressed as toys.

First graders enjoy modeling clay. They make dishes and statues from it. After drying them, they can be painted.

Mrs. Russell is directing a reading class. Each child is called upon to read aloud from his own book. This reading will prepare the children for speaking and reading in front of groups in the future. It will also improve their reading ability. The children read the story silently, before reading aloud.

Statues, steeples, houses, and other buildings are what these young people have in mind. Large wooden blocks are the medium, but it takes more than materials for construction. These youngsters have the initiative it takes.

With clay, these youngsters make their own wild life, such as the rabbits they are modeling. In the future these children will come into contact with and be somewhat acquainted with such wild life.

Playing house is a specialty of girls and sometimes boys. Girls learn to use most household essentials, even the telephone. This play gives expression to the homemaking inclination of children.

"Musical Chairs," an elimination game is being played by a group of the kindergarten class. The participants walk around the chairs to the music of the phonograph. When the music stops, everyone sits down and the ones who don't find chairs are eliminated. The music is stopped a number of times as elimination is continued.

The fifth grade is preparing for lunch period which is enjoyed by everyone. Two of the students are passing out napkins and straws. This year for the first time the children at the Tayntor School are receiving bottles of milk to supplement their lunch.

baker school - mrs. talbot

Getting ready to go exploring! Locating places on the map as these children are preparing to do is a favorite way of studying Social Studies. It helps us to visualize the places we read about in our Social Studies books and aids us in drawing and coloring our own maps.

Gathering in small groups for oral reading gives everyone a chance to read and participate in discussing the story. The most fun is when our teacher says we may read a review story. Then we can choose our favorite story.

Building block houses? No indeed! The first and second grade boys find that counting with blocks and peg-boards is fun as well as educational. $4 - 2 = 2$ means more to us when we see two blocks taken away than when we see just numbers.

shearer school - mrs. fish

Nature study by means of a flip chart, enables the students to appreciate their environment when they observe happenings in every day nature.

A record player at the school enables the children a source of recreation, dancing, musical appreciation and physical education. The children are allowed to play the records by themselves with permission of the teacher. This record player provides for all-around enjoyment.

two age-old practices of man - latin

Into what three parts Gaul is divided is pointed out to fellow Latin students on a map drawn by Jack Goetcheus. Students learn to identify ancient tribes of Europe and associate them with modern countries of today, as well as to fight the war with Caesar and his soldiers.

Shirts and pants seem much more comfortable and far less complicated to Latin I students than the togas worn by ancient Romans. By studying about the life, language, and customs of the speakers of Latin, there is developed a greater appreciation of English, the American way of life and the debts it owes to men of 2,000 years ago.

In third year Latin, students work a great deal on derivation of English words and the stories behind their meaning. Since approximately 100% of the English language is based on Latin, students find this study interesting as well as useful in English class.

Seated: Theresa Erickson.

When a person enters high school he finds one of his compulsory subjects is general science. It covers a little of all sciences including practical experiences of life as air, water, heat, weather, light and the workings of the universe. In the picture the students are using practical experience of an inclined plane. It is used to make work easier.

To many people the word physics brings to mind electricity, light, or heat. Of course these are included in the course but many others are included, too. The conveniences and necessities of life are built by the principles given by physics. The picture shows the students using an electric eye, which is operated by the principles of electricity and light.

Biology is one of the choice subjects of science. It deals with living things in all fields. A student could make separate subjects of any one group. One could be made up of plants or animals or smaller divisions might be birds and insects. In the picture the students are using a microscope to view minute particles of substances.

for a better future, a study of past and present

In the Freshmen year much time is spent on map work. The purpose of this is to get the pupils to know where certain countries are located so that when they discuss current topics they will be acquainted with that part of the world. They are also taught that the global map is the most up to date map. In this picture they are working with a global or air map.

Third row: Sylvia Nowalk, Edith Hulslander, Leon Greenwood, Janice Pittman, Carol Smith, Milltreata Covington, Dorothy Walker.

The Seniors study current problems. They use publications such as the local newspaper, New York and Boston papers, and weekly magazines, Time, Life, and the U. S. News and World Report, etc. The purpose of this work is to build up their background knowledge of events of today and to get them to read more than just one viewpoint of a subject.

Third row, standing: Marjorie Corey, Rollan Elwood, Robert Jacobi, Milton Allen.

In the Sophomore year they study World History. The use of film strips as shown in the picture are a great asset in learning. These film strips help the pupils understand better what they are reading in their text books for it makes the ancient peoples of Egypt, Greece, or Rome seem more realistic.

The McGraw Soccer Team had a very successful season. McGraw started strong with three victories over Virgil, Marathon and Homer, then tying Cincinnatus and losing to Truxton to end the first round of the season. However, coming back strongly in the second half of the season, losing only to Marathon by a score of 3-2, McGraw ended in a first place tie with Cincinnatus. The play-off game for the County League Championship which was held at Marathon was won by McGraw with a decisive margin of 3-0. This entitled McGraw to travel to Oneonta to play Stamford for the Sectional IV Championship play-off game. Playing against an aggressive team McGraw had trouble starting, but once under motion, we came out on top to earn the title "Section IV Champions."

Trevor Bilodeau was injured during the season in a scuffle at mid-field and was unable to play for the remainder of the season. McGraw worked as a team to win the championship, but much praise must be given to Center Half-back Howard Shippey, Goalie Robert Lakeman and to Coach Seither whose constant aid to the players gave them the spirit that carried them through to victory.

With a very successful soccer season in back of them, McGraw was quiet hopeful of being equally outstanding in basketball. However the players did not get started to their fullest ability until the tail end of the season. Although McGraw lost many close games, they could have been won with better ball handling and harder playing. The team was led by Howard Shippey with 274 points. The team is also proud of Howard because he received the most valuable player award in Cortland County. Henry Wadsworth, one of our other players, was cited as the county's third most valuable player.

The McGraw Central School Rifle Club has expanded to over thirty members this year. The team representing the school was picked for each competitive match from the following group of boys: George Hicks, David Elson, Donald Briggs, Allan Bean, Richard Crisfield, Robert Lakeman, James Brown and Howard Baer. These boys had experience from previous years. They practiced at a different time from the larger inexperienced group. The entire club worked on ratings for the National Rifle Association Junior Division and the ratings for the Division of Civilian Marksmanship of the U. S. Army. These awards are made with the other athletic awards at the class night program each year.

The Varsity team has competed in five inter-scholastic matches and the Section IV Tournament of the New York State Athletic Association. In regular competition they won four of the five matches. They also placed third in the sectional match; with Vestal Central School taking top honors and Ithaca High School placing second.

The team also participated in the National Tournament for Junior Rifle teams sponsored by the National Rifle Association held April 26.

The team record for the year was as follows:

This year the cheerleaders were chosen by popular vote in assembly. Three new girls, Carol Smith, Elizabeth Teeter, and Shirley Bishop, and seven experienced ones Janice Pittman, Barbara Wheelock, Marilyn Fuller, Harriett Moore, Marjorie Corey, Phyllis Wheelock and Elaine Berean were elected. Mrs. Johnston, our advisor, gave us many new ideas. Janice Pittman, captain of the complete squad, Marilyn Fuller and Phyllis Wheelock, captains of the divided squads, led us in a colorful year with precision as a keynote. Our cheerleaders also placed third in competition with the other cheerleading squads of Cortland County.

In this shot our cheerleaders are going through a cheer in the new Homer Central School Gym, where the Cortland County League play-offs were held this year.

This year more students joined the Yearbook Club than ever before; thus making this year's Yearbook Club more completely representative of the high school.

One of our first tasks this year was to write a constitution for the club. The constitution states that the purpose of the club is "to produce as good a book as will be financially possible."

In its second year as a high school activity, the "Mac" has again made some changes. One is the new type of cover. We feel it is more durable as well as more attractive. Another change involves our pictures. We received such favorable comments on our informal pictures of high school classrooms last year that we used them this year for homerooms and grades as well as high school departments.

The members of the Yearbook Club wish to express their whole-hearted thanks to Mr. Frietag who advised us with the art and placement work, a very difficult task.

This year the staff and committee chairmen are:

Allan C. Bean, Editor; Jim Brown, Assistant Editor; Lee Goetcheus, Business Manager and Treasurer.

Typing: Carol Smith, chairman; Sports: Elizabeth Teeter, girls' sports chairman, James Gilbert, boys' sports chairman; Art: Arnold Schink, chairman; Copy Work: Elaine Berean, chairman; Photography: Henry Wadsworth, chairman; Faculty Advisor: Mrs. Nellenback.

As these headlines show, the F.F.A. club, under the guidance of Mr. Powley, has developed into an active and worthwhile organization. The F.F.A. boys have also gained much practical experience in agriculture to help them in future years.

The McGraw Chapter of the Future Homemakers of America was formed on January 9, 1952.

Activities including a bake sale and a spaghetti supper helped our chapter financially. As a service project the chapter collected old clothes that could be used by needy families in the area. In the spring, hikes, picnics and other outdoor activities helped to round out the chapter's activities.

Absent: Donald Niver.

The officers of The Future Homemakers of America are: President, Shirley Bishop; Vice-President, Edith Hulslander; Secretary, Viola Schink; Treasurer, Bertha Heath; Song Leader, Joan Belknap; Newspaper, Janie Cobb; Cheerleader, Marjorie Corey; Chapter Mother, Mrs. Corey.

This year under the supervision of Mr. Freitag, a school newspaper was organized. The first copy challenged the students to a "name the paper" contest. After selecting many ideas from those entered, "MacEagle" originated by Allan Bean and Trevor Bilodeau was selected by the staff. In our paper we have an article on the teacher of the week as well as reports on sports, Junior and Senior bands, chorus and society. Our paper is published once every two weeks and distributed free of charge to all high school members.

Our staff includes:

Advisor	Mr. Freitag

Parent-Teacher Associations are organized in communities to serve the needs of children and youth at various age levels—pre-school, elementary, high school and college.

The following objects state the purpose of the organization and form the basis of its program: (1) To promote the welfare of children and youth in home, school, church and community. (2) To raise the standards of home life. (3) To secure adequate laws for the care and protection of children and youth. (4) To bring into closer relation the home and the school, that parents and teachers may cooperate intelligently in the training of the child. (5) To develop between education and the general public such united efforts as will secure for every child the highest advantages in physical, mental, social and spiritual education.

The McGraw Unit of P.T.A. was organized in 1930 with a membership of twenty-six persons. It has been a very active and a growing organization and now with centralization we have four hundred eighty-two members.

Each year we vote to carry out some special project that meets the needs of the children and youth in the community. This year the project chosen was "Welfare" and a sum of two hundred dollars was realized from an auction for this cause. The Welfare Committee, composed of parents and teachers, working with the Central School has provided glasses, some dental care and articles of clothing for our children.

As one reads the history of this Unit, each is marked by the accomplishment of some worthy project. Let us continue this record, ever working—with but a single objective—the well-being of our children and youth.
